

Millstone Township Environmental Commission

A Sign Is Worth a Thousand Words Project

The Millstone Environmental Commission, concerned about damage to the town's network of public trails and open space being caused by unauthorized motorized vehicles, obtained a grant from the Association of NJ Environmental Commissions (anjec.org) to help resolve the problem. In addition to environmental impacts such as soil erosion, sedimentation of streams, and contamination of soil with oil and gasoline, motorized vehicles present a safety hazard for walkers, bikers and horseback riders on the trails. The grant paid for 40 signs that were installed by the public works department, notifying park visitors of the Township's ordinance that prohibits the use of motor vehicles on Township open space, and asking the public to report any violations they observe.
