October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Breast cancer is the most common cancer among women in the U.S. and the second leading cause of cancer death among women. Every year, about 200,000 new cases of breast cancer are reported nationwide, and more than 40,000 women die from the disease. Getting mammograms regularly can help prevent breast cancer.

Breast cancer is an uncontrolled growth of breast cells. The growth becomes uncontrollable without treatment, ultimately resulting in the formation of a tumor. A tumor can be either benign (non-cancerous) or malignant (cancerous). Related to this description, a cancer growth can also be non-invasive (confined to the infected area) or invasive (spread to surrounding breast tissue), which determines the severity of disease upon detection.

More than 7 million women have not had a recent mammogram, an X-ray of the breast, to screen for breast cancer as recommended. Mammograms can find breast cancer early, before it is large enough to feel or cause physical symptoms. All women aged 50 to 74 should have a mammogram every two years, and those between 40 and 50 years should talk with their doctor about when to start screening.

The risk of cancer increases with age. Although white women are more likely to get breast cancer, African American women are most likely to die of it. Minority women are most likely to have advanced breast cancer when the cancer is first discovered. Women of other ethnic backgrounds (Asian, Hispanic, and Native American) have a lower risk of developing and dying from breast cancer than white women and African American women. If a close family member (e.g. mother, father, grandmother, sister, or aunt) has had breast cancer, the risk for other family members getting breast cancer may be higher. If you think you may be at increased risk, ask your doctor if you should be tested earlier or more frequently than standard recommendations.

For more information about breast cancer or to find out how to get free or low-cost mammograms, call the Monmouth County Health Department at 732-431-7456, or go to www.cdc.gov/cancer/breast or call CDC at 1-800-CDC-INFO (232-4636).

Parents Who Host, Lose The Most Don't be A Party to Teenage Drinking.

The Millstone Township Municipal Alliance to Prevent Substance is ready to launch its new public awareness program educating parents and the community at large about the health and safety risks of serving alcohol at teen parties. Through a variety of media, including local billboards, the campaign will mobilize all sectors of the community to address this issue.

This campaign will concentrate its efforts on celebratory times for youth, such as homecoming, holidays, prom, graduation and other times when underage drinking parties are prevalent. This unique program encourages parents and the ENTIRE community to send a unified message that teen alcohol consumption is unhealthy, unsafe and unacceptable.

Much of the focus in today's media is on the epidemic of prescription drug and heroin abuse, the fact is that most young people start their substance use with alcohol. "At least they're only drinking alcohol", is a position held by many parents, but the fact is more people die from alcohol-related problems than from all drug problems combined.

Through this campaign parents will be informed of the laws related to underage drinking and serving alcohol to minors. For example, many are not aware that as a parent you cannot give alcohol to your teen's friend under the age of 21 under any circumstance - even in your own home. Parents will also learn valuable strategies for talking with their children about alcohol use and create a positive community norm that does not support underage drinking.

For more information about this campaign, to volunteer to be a member of the alliance or if you or a family member need information or resources to deal with an alcohol or other drug problem, email us at millstonealliance@gmail.com or leave a message at 732-462-4770, ext. 40. Volunteers are always needed to help us get our message out to the community. Call today!

Solutions to Stormwater Pollution

Easy Things You Can Do Every Day To Protect Our Water

A Guide to Healthy Habits for Cleaner Water

Pollution on streets, parking lots and lawns is washed by rain into storm drains, then directly to our drinking water supplies and the ocean and lakes our children play in. Fertilizer, oil, pesticides, detergents, pet waste, grass clippings: You name it and it ends up in our water.

Stormwater pollution is one of New Jersey's greatest threats to clean and plentiful water, and that's why we're all doing something about it.

By sharing the responsibility and making small, easy changes in our daily lives, we can keep common pollutants out of stormwater. It all adds up to cleaner water, and it saves the high cost of cleaning up once it's dirty.

As part of New Jersey's initiative to keep our water clean and plentiful and to meet federal requirements, many municipalities and other public agencies including colleges and military bases must adopt ordinances or other rules prohibiting various activities that contribute to stormwater pollution. Breaking these rules can result in fines or other penalties.

As a resident, business, or other member of the New Jersey community, it is important to know these easy things you can do every day to protect our water.

Limit your use of fertilizers and pesticides

- Do a soil test to see if you need a fertilizer.
- Do not apply fertilizers if heavy rain is predicted.
- Look into alternatives for pesticides.
- Maintain a small lawn and keep the rest of your property or yard in a natural state with trees and other native vegetation that requires little or no fertilizer.
- If you use fertilizers and pesticides, follow the instructions on the label on how to correctly apply it.

Make sure you properly store or discard any unused portions.

Properly use and dispose of hazardous products

- Hazardous products include some household or commercial cleaning products, lawn and garden care products, motor oil, antifreeze, and paints.
- Do not pour any hazardous products down a storm drain because storm drains are usually connected to local waterbodies and the water is not treated.

- If you have hazardous products in your home or workplace, make sure you store or dispose of them properly. Read the label for guidance.
- Use natural or less toxic alternatives when possible.
- Recycle used motor oil.
- Contact your municipality, county or facility management office for the locations of hazardous-waste disposal facilities.

Keep pollution out of storm drains

■ Municipalities and many other public agencies are required to mark certain storm drain inlets with messages reminding people that storm drains are connected to local waterbodies.

■ Do not let sewage or other wastes flow into a stormwater system.

Clean up after your pet

- Many municipalities and public agencies must enact and enforce local pet-waste rules.
- An example is requiring pet owners or their keepers to pick up and properly dispose of pet waste dropped on public or other people's property.
- Make sure you know your town's or agency's requirements and comply with them. It's the law. And remember to:

- Use newspaper, bags or pooper-scoopers to pick up wastes.
- Dispose of the wrapped pet waste in the trash or unwrapped in a toilet.
- Never discard pet waste in a storm drain.

Don't feed wildlife

- Do not feed wildlife, such as ducks and geese, in public areas.
- Many municipalities and other public agencies must enact and enforce a rule that prohibits wildlife feeding in these areas.

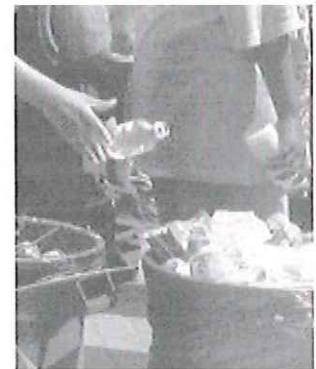

Don't litter

- Place litter in trash receptacles.
- Recycle. Recycle. Recycle.
- Participate in community cleanups.

Dispose of yard waste properly

- Keep leaves and grass out of storm drains.
- If your municipality or agency has yard waste collection rules, follow them.
- Use leaves and grass clippings as a resource for compost.
- Use a mulching mower that recycles grass clippings into the lawn.
